

RECTOR SAYS DANCE IS HUMANITY'S HOPE

Dr. Guthrie Declares That It Requires Primitive Dignity.

SCORES SMALL FAMILY

Tells Hearers Hardly One in Hundred Persons Has Normal Mind.

The Rev. Dr. William Norman Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's-in-the-Bowery, on East Tenth street, in a sermon yesterday afternoon criticizing modern civilization said that the restoration of dancing to its primitive dignity would do more to save the human race than any other thing.

He said that Isadora Duncan, Pavlova and Ruth St. Denis have done more to restore the rightful dignity of dances than any other thing during the last fifty years. He considered that dancing at present, however, has fallen so low that it would be a great thing to rescue it.

"The reason that most of you approach the question of dancing wrongly is that you are not normal," Dr. Guthrie said. "A series of tastes would prove that hardly one human mind is sound out of one hundred."

Primitive Man Different.

"Primitive man danced to express an inner emotion, but primitive man was not interested in sex. Most important to us now is the fact that the art of religion can find in the art of dancing a great deal of its main support. There are three points about dancing:

"1. It raises scandal. It runs violently counter to irrational taboos. It enflames excitement on behalf of reform and gets the greatest amount of publicity.

"2. It touches everybody in a most intimate way, because the business of everybody is to have a body which he can operate with his spirit.

"3. It is the only art that requires no material outside the person, whether he be rich or poor.

"We wish to restore in small degree the dance to its sacramental functions, which would prove effective beyond all expectation. But how can we expect to approach such a subject when not one in a hundred to-day is normal and most of us are freaks?"

Civilization Going Back.

"We might get 100 in an occasional test, but we would go down to zero in the next series of tests. Our Western civilization is going back and nobody can doubt it. The fault of our modern artists is that they are self-conscious, but the public makes them so."

Dr. Guthrie said that Americans had

Romance Hatched Out by Message on Egg

JUST a year ago an egg packer with inextinguishable romance in his heart pencilled this message upon the smooth convexity of a choice speck:

"I hope some pretty young lady gets this egg."

SAMUEL SPASS, Milton, N. Y. Three days later Rose Miniceni of 282 Mottstreet went marketing and purchased twelve up-State eggs at a grocery in Prince street. She found the egg of destiny and she sat herself down and wrote to young Leoro, mailing an authentic sun portrait. Samuel saw that the pencillations had been fulfilled and wrote back, sending his own picture. Correspondence ensued and yesterday, at old St. Patrick's Cathedral at Mott and Prince streets Sam and Rose agreed to go fifty-fifty in life's joys and sorrows. After the wedding, a gorgeous affair, more than 3,500 guests wished the pair happiness and celebrated the event in Arlington Hall.

done hardly anything to make loyal citizens out of foreigners coming to American shores. He asserted that less than 25 per cent. of the population of New York city is American born, not to mention racial divisions.

"If I have nothing to say against the foreigners at all," Dr. Guthrie said, "What I have to say is against the Americans who do nothing for them. What right have you to expect foreign people coming here to do more than you yourself will do? What right have you to complain if the Reds take America? Native Americans have few, if no children. One child to the family is the average of the American family in the North. Foreigners average seven to the family. It is not much use to talk about America in the future unless we have families. People blame the politicians in this country, but we have done nothing to make Americans of them. We can't blame them at all. We can blame ourselves."

Dr. Guthrie ended his sermon by saying no decent American should dodge going to church on Thanksgiving Day.

Our New Loaf of "Bread and Milk"

Two great foods in one—plus vitamins, plus mineral salts, plus balanced proteins

The SUPER-BREAD

YOU have seen our sign, The Golden Key to Health, broadcasted through the columns of the daily papers, on the poster boards of the city and in the stores of our dealers, disclosing our great achievement.

This advertisement tells about our discovery of a method of extracting the vital elements of the wheat berry and restoring them to WHITE BREAD.

Everyone knows that in the making of white flour many of the most nutritious elements of the wheat are lost. The vital germ or heart of the grain of wheat is its most nourishing and vitalizing part. Yet this germ and the bran must be removed in the course of milling white flour.

It has long been known that the most essential food elements of wheat have been lost from food for men, women and children and turned into feed for hogs and cattle.

Mr. Ward with his staff of expert bakers and learned scientists, tried for years to find the way to unlock the secret which would disclose the way to greater nutrition in white bread. Now, at last he has succeeded and is introducing a new kind of bread, which contains these vital elements of the wheat in abundance.

We have been making good white bread for many years—the best, we believe, which could be made with the best of white flour. But we add to our new loaf these vital elements which our work and feeding tests have proved make it the most perfect and nutritious bread ever produced. Our new process not only results in saving these most vital parts of the wheat, recovering from nature's storehouse the vitamins and natural mineral salts, but involves the use of rich whole milk in quantities so large that no water at all is used in making the dough, thereby building up the protein content of the loaf to an extraordinary degree.

Indeed it might be called a loaf of bread and milk—two great foods in one plus vitamins, plus mineral salts, plus balanced proteins.

The final result is a delicious white bread in the familiar form of the best family loaf, to which have been added the vital and essential elements of whole wheat from the wheat germ and bran and also the nourishing qualities of milk.

We challenge all competitive kinds of bread and we challenge home-made bread to show an equal nutritional value with our new VITOVIM loaf.

But this is not all. Much is heard these days of vitamins and mineral salts. It has been discovered that these essential elements are absolutely necessary in human food. The vital parts of wheat which this company has learned how to save, contain abundant quantities of both vitamins and mineral nutrients, and especially of vitamin B, the one most necessary for the healthy growth of children.

Milk also is rich in vitamins and proper proteins. In short, there have been added to our new loaf, exceptional quantities of all the vital and essential elements.

That is why we call it VITOVIM—The SUPER-BREAD.

Our new process is the result of a large outlay of money, of long continued patience and perseverance and our greatest reward will be in the knowledge that our discovery will ultimately be of immense benefit to mankind.

Long continued animal feeding tests by scientists of our leading universities have proved the great nutritional value of this super loaf, and pronounce it the first perfect white bread. You will be interested to know that in these feeding tests, with nothing more than VITOVIM BREAD and water, various experimental animals were raised to full growth and maturity, to breed and reproduce even to the third and fourth generation. There never was a home-made loaf or any other loaf that could accomplish the same result.

Our advertisements published from day to day will be interesting and highly instructive. It will pay you to read them. Meantime, try this new loaf—this Super-Bread. It is now on sale at the store of your neighborhood dealer.

The cost of this loaf is a little more than for ordinary bread. It is worth much more. This you will understand when we tell you that—

The milk alone in the new loaf costs more than the flour in the loaf you have been using.

Resolve from this day forth to make this Super-Bread the daily bread of your household for the better nourishment of yourself and your family.

A delicious, nutritious creamy white bread for daily table use.
